

Assistance for Innovative Businesses

Is your business developing new products? Interested in improving business operations and/or production methods? Or, you want to find out about assistance for business development?

Industry Techlink has helped hundreds of businesses with technical and process innovation and product development by accessing a team of industry and research specialists from around Australia.

Come along and hear from Industry TechLink, AusIndustry, Industry Capability Network, and NSW Department of State and Regional Development on technical and Government support for Innovation.

Also hear from a local business about how they benefited from this type of support. All speakers will be on hand afterwards for you to discuss how these programs could support your business.
